PROSPECTUS

Sarajevo, January 2023

INTRODUCTION

The Lifelong Learning Program “Introduction to the Study of Islam” is 72-hour special program for those who want to know more about Islam in general and Islamic culture in Bosnia-Herzegovina. Classes are held via the E-learning platform of the Faculty. Lecturers are mainly from the Faculty of Islamic Studies. The program is intended for a mature English speaking audience who meets the admission requirements. It is designed to provide introductory insight into the knowledge of doctrine, law, history and culture of Islam with special focus on Islam in the Balkans and Bosnia- Herzegovina. This program has been implemented eleven times so far. The Faculty of Islamic Studies will award certificates to participants who successfully complete the program requirements.

THE FACULTY OF ISLAMIC STUDIES

The Faculty of Islamic Studies was established in 1977 by the Islamic Community in Bosnia-Herzegovina. However, the Faculty builds upon much longer tradition of higher Islamic learning in Sarajevo which started in 1537 with the establishment of Gazi Husraw-bey Madrasa. The Faculty is also an heir to the School for Shari’ah judges (est. 1887), later the Higher School of Islamic Theology and Shari’ah, whose neo-Moorish styled building is contemporary home to it. In 2013 the Faculty became a member of the University of Sarajevo.

The study is organized in three cycles. The first cycle (BA) has three programs: Islamic theology, Islamic religious instruction and religious pedagogy, and a degree program for imams, khātibs and mu’allims. The second cycle (MA) is a unique study program by which the title MA in Islamic studies is acquired, and the third cycle (PhD leading to the degree PhD in Islamic studies. So far, 1,438 male and female students have graduated from the Faculty, including 194 at MA and 66 at Ph.D. levels. At present the Faculty employs 39 teaching staff.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

This program involves seven modules grouped into two courses, Introduction to Islam and Islam in Bosnia-Herzegovina, covering the following themes: Survey of Islamic History; Introduction to Islamic Creed; Introduction to Qur'an and Sunnah; Law, state and Islam in Bosnia-Herzegovina; Selected Themes from the History of Muslim Bosnia, Women Position in Islam and Gender Equality Perspective; Introduction to Islamic Philosophy. In principle, classes are held in the late afternoon twice a week (most probably Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 PM) via E-learning platform of the Faculty. The exact schedule may be fine-tuned with the participants on the first day of program.

EVALUATION

Evaluation for the Program is as follows:

Attendance and Class Participation	40%
Research paper	60%

At least 80% attendance in the online classroom is required. The minimum requirement for successful completion is 60%. Distance learning participants and those who miss more classes than permitted are asked to write one paper for each unattended module.
